CITY MANAGER

CITY OF BELLE MEADE, TENNESSEE
THE COMMUNITY

The City of Belle Meade, Tennessee, (2,912 population) is a distinct residential community of approximately 1,200 homes located in the Nashville/Davidson County metropolitan area and covering roughly 3.1 square miles. There are only five non-residential structures in the city: a historic site, country club and three religious institutions. Belle Meade provides local control of zoning and land use, public safety, streets, sanitation and other services. The city depends on Metro Nashville for additional services, including school systems, fire and ambulance, electric, water and gas utilities, hospitals, libraries and parks.

Belle Meade is laid out on farmland purchased by John Harding in 1807 who raised world-famous stallions drawing international acclaim. Over several decades the stud farm grew to more than two thousand acres and was given the name Belle Meade, meaning “beautiful meadow”. By 1906, due to debt, most of the land was sold to a land development company that subdivided the property into residential estate lots. The original 1853 mansion and outbuildings on 30 acres were preserved as a museum and event space and are listed on the National Register of Historic Places. The City incorporated in 1938 and the commissioners immediately enacted ordinances to prohibit commercial activity and permit only one and two family residential use.

Belle Meade is a hidden jewel and considered one of the best places to live in Tennessee with a safe, welcoming, and family-friendly community offering an abundance of small-town charm. Residents are drawn to the community for its historic and elegant character set against the backdrop of a natural, park-like landscape and to the exclusive single-family zoning and low-density housing on large and small tree-filled lots. Strong residential and historic zoning maintain the character of the city. Belle Meade is one of the safest communities in the state, and recently installed an LPR and video camera security system around the perimeter of the city.

Belle Meade is within minutes of everything a major city such as Nashville can offer, including outstanding cultural and recreational attractions including the Country Music Hall of Fame and Museum, The Parthenon in Centennial Park, (a full-scale replica of the original Parthenon in Athens), the Grand Ole Opry, award winning restaurants, professional and collegiate sports, boating and fishing on area lakes, walking and hiking trails in beautiful Percy Warner Park situated at the terminus of Belle Meade Boulevard, as well as quick access to the Nashville International Airport.
CITY GOVERNMENT

The City of Belle Meade was incorporated in 1938 before the formation of the Metropolitan Government of Nashville and Davidson County. The City exists as a satellite city within the Metropolitan family. The City of Belle Meade is chartered as a City Manager-Commissioner form of government. The citizens elect five commissioners for staggered four-year terms and the Commissioners elect two of their members to serve as Mayor and vice-Mayor for two-year terms. The Board of Commissioners is the policy making body of the City. The policy is set through the approval of various ordinances, resolutions, and regulations. The City’s primary responsibilities are public works, including operation of a wastewater collection system, land use, zoning, building and codes, city court, and police protection.

Under the administrative direction of the Mayor and the Commissioners, the City Manager leads the operations and day-to-day administration of the City. The City Manager performs the duties of Chief Administrative Officer in the administration of all services and programs of the City. The City Manager provides administrative direction and guidance to all departments, develops and administers the annual City budget, establishes and monitors internal controls and coordination of City programs, and prepares long-and short-term strategic plans to meet the organization and development needs of the City.
